Twenty-second Sunday in Ordinary Time

"Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will find it."

Matthew 16:24-25

We are one community moved by Faith, led by Hope and united in Charity, seeking, as a caring family, to walk in the footsteps of Jesus Christ by reaching out in welcome to all: the young, the old, the stranger, and the neighbor. Our Ministries

August 29/30th

Our Parish community exercises our mission to live the Gospel in the daily lives of its members. This reality is supported by the special ministries our Parish develops and supports through Prayer and Worship, Life Accompaniments of various sorts and by Community Outreach efforts. Our Annual Ministries Weekend will be August 29th and 30th. We present and recruit for volunteer positions for all our existing and new ministries. Representatives from each initiative will be available following all masses to explain the mission and goals of the work and to assist those interested to sign up.

National Make-A-Will Month!

August is a perfect time to plan ahead and to protect your family. A will reflects your values-providing comfort, protecting your loved ones, and strengthening your faith-based stewardship for generations to come. Consult with an attorney.

Project Rachel is a confidential ministry that offers hope and healing for women (and men) in pain from past abortions. Information at the doors of the Church.

Our Lady Star of the Sea Parish

Marblehead, Massachusetts

August 30, 2026
Twenty-second Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Parishioner of Our Lady Star of the Sea,

"Tu es Petrus et super hanc petram edificabo ecclesiam meam." These words from last week's Gospel reading (you are Peter and upon this rock I will build my Church) are written in large celebratory letters across the bottom inner ring of the great dome over St. Peter's Basilica at the Vatican. By contrast, the words of Jesus to Peter in today's Gospel (see Matthew 16:21-27) "Vade post me, Satana! Scandalum es mihi" are not so displayed (Get behind me, Satan! You are an obstacle to me) even though they follow tragically close upon the first in Matthew's account.

Where do we stand in relationship with the Lord: rejoicing in confidence or behind in confusion? The Lord had indicated to the disciples that he must go to Jerusalem. There he would face the mysteries of his passion and death. There, too, on the third day, would he be raised. He invites his disciples, Peter and us included, to follow. We are to make the journey to Jerusalem with him, to make the journey of life with him, to make the journey to new life with him.

Peter, when thinking of the impending suffering the journey will entail, rebukes Jesus, saying that nothing of the sort should ever happen. He did not yet understand the implications of what Jesus intended to build and how he would accomplish it. Peter could not accept the prediction of suffering because he was in fear of the suffering itself, and not yet sharing the motivation which impels Jesus forward: the depth and power of God's saving love. Peter would, in his confusion, become the fulfillment of the Lord's warning: "whoever wishes to save his life will lose it." In the day of Jesus' trial, Peter denied ever knowing who Jesus was and, thereby, would lose himself, too, in the bitter tears that would take hold of him. Only on the "third day" would Peter, in his encounter with the risen Lord, come to know the forgiveness and new life won for him on the cross; only then would he become suitable building material for a new community of hope.

You and I are invited by the Gospel to deny ourselves, take up the cross and follow Jesus. The phrase "must deny himself" has nothing to do with self loathing or rejection. It means to stop limiting oneself to "thinking... as human beings do" in the narrow, self serving manner we sometimes allow ourselves at our worse. If and when we think "as human beings do," we risk becoming untrue to Jesus and unreliable in our responsibilities for others. Rather, we are to exercise the grace to think "as God does," alive in the light of our love and relationship with Jesus and one another in the Lord. When we come to think "as God does," we are square true to our relationship with Jesus and our responsibilities to the members of the Church. We then consider each and every word and decision in the light of the great saving love in which God holds each and every one of us. When we do, we are rock solid with God and truly reliable in all our relationships. In this way does Jesus continue to build his community of love in us, with us and upon us, helping us to discover our true identity in him.

Our Summer break is coming to a conclusion. We receive from Jesus the renewal of his invitation to come and to follow him. In learning who Jesus really is, we come to know the truth of our own lives and destiny. We truly come to life in him. This weekend we hold our annual Ministries fair, celebrating the many ways our community is being built up in the Lord and contributes to the world around us. Please stop by to review all that is on display. See the many ways in which through prayer and worship, through life accompaniment and through community outreach we, by God's grace, both become and seek to build up the body of Christ, a renewed community of hope for the sake of the whole world.

Asking God's blessing that all our works may abound to the glory of God and the good of others, I am,

Yours in the Lord's service,

Msgr. Timothy J. Moran

World Day of Prayer for the Care of Creation
September 1, 2026

"They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks" (Isaiah 2:4).

Pope Leo XIV notes that war wounds both humanity and the earth. Ecological and social crises are intertwined, forming "a single plea for healing and peace arising from a wounded world." Join him in prayer!

Did you know…? The crossed keys symbolize the authority Jesus gave to Saint Peter and his successors to bind and loose, governing the Church on earth. One key is typically gold representing spiritual authority in heaven, while the other is silver representing earthly authority. The keys appear prominently in the papal coat of arms and throughout Vatican imagery as symbols of the papacy. This symbol expresses the Catholic belief that the Pope holds special authority to teach, govern, and sanctify in Christ's name.

Faithful Citizenship

In this election year we need to form our consciences in the light of the Church's teachings. Our bishops make it clear that the right to life is preeminent among human rights. Therefore voting for candidates who favor abortion because of their position on the issue is wrong. Still, as they acknowledge in their letter Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship:

"35. There may be times when a Catholic who rejects a candidate's unacceptable position even on policies promoting an intrinsically evil act may reasonably decide to vote for that candidate for other morally grave reasons. Voting in this way would be permissible only for truly grave moral reasons, not to advance narrow interests or partisan preferences or to ignore a fundamental moral evil.

"36. When all candidates hold a position that promotes an intrinsically evil act, the conscientious voter faces a dilemma. The voter may decide to take the extraordinary step of not voting for any candidate or, after careful deliberation, may decide to vote for the candidate deemed less likely to advance such a morally flawed position and more likely to pursue other authentic human goods."

The bishops' letter points out many grave issues apart from abortion, and it seems to me that in a situation where abortion is unlikely to be affected by a candidate over the term of office involved, we may choose a candidate on the basis of serious issues which will be "in play," which the candidate can actually affect. An additional option would be to vote for an acceptable third party candidate rather than a major party candidate as "the lesser of two evils" or to write in someone.

There is much more in the letter, especially on serious matters beyond the right to life of the unborn, and I think it is worthwhile to read it all as we decide for whom to vote https://www.usccb.org/resources/Forming%20Consciences%20for%20Faithful%20Citizenship,%202019.pdf.

Tuesday of this week is the first day of September. By the end of the month, daily average temperatures will be notably cooler than now. Of course, not every day is average. I recall helping to run a series of sailboat races in mid September about 65 years ago with beautiful weather that felt like July.

The series in the Pilot about all the parts of the Mass has ended, although there will at times be more columns about liturgical topics. For now, let's review some basic points. Perhaps most fundamental is that the Mass is the work of all who are present, in line with the call of the Second Vatican Council for the "full, conscious, and active participation" of all the faithful in the liturgy. The laity are not mere spectators while the clergy do their thing. The Mass is the action of the whole Church, and the laity take part in it by doing their assigned role. This consists in saying or singing the prayers, hymns, and responses assigned to them. These can be as short as "Amen" or as extensive as the Creed at Sunday Mass and the "Glory to God." Others include "Lord, have mercy … Christ, have mercy …," "Holy, holy, holy …," the Mystery of Faith acclamation, and "Lamb of God…." Several of these are sung at most of our Sunday Masses, and by now the melodies should be familiar enough for people to sing along.

This week the Memorial of Pope St. Gregory the Great is celebrated on September 3. He was born around 540, became pope on September 3, 590, and died in 604. He founded a monastery on his family property, served as papal ambassador to the emperor in Constantinople, wrote extensively, and sent Benedictine missionaries, including St. Augustine of Canterbury, to England. He reformed the Roman liturgy, and the Church's traditional chant is known as Gregorian Chant. In our choir loft he is depicted to the right of the Nativity, vested in red with a dove, representing the Holy Spirit, at his ear https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pope_Gregory_I.

We might also note that there is an Optional Memorial of St. Teresa of Calcutta on September 5.

Have a good week.

Enjoy the summer while it lasts.
