OUR LADY STAR OF THE SEA PARISH
Marblehead, Massachusetts

June 25, 2023
Twelfth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Parishioner of Our Lady Star of the Sea,

“Fear no one!” Today’s Gospel Reading (see Matthew 10:26-33) begins with this very apodictic sentence. For the Apostles, the Lord has been instructing them on the mission to which he has called them. He told them that he was sending them out “like lambs in the midst of wolves.” He reminded them that their message of God’s mercy will be met by opposition, just as the Lord’s own had been. Indeed, he invites the Apostles, as should every disciple, “to become like his teacher.”

“Fear no one.” That statement does not fall easily on our ears as disciples. There is much to fear in today’s world. We think of current wars and the danger of expansion of the same. We see continued tragic scenes in our society of shooters targeting individuals and groups in their rage. We see deepening polarization of viewpoints among us. We have learned new fear of communicable diseases. People fear large events, crowds, flights, airports and train stations, city centers, to name a few. We think of such things as regards ourselves. We worry about such things with regard to loved ones and others. Sometimes, the news is so full of such events that too many prefer not to look, not to hear, not to think for fear that it will end up exhausting and depleting them.

The Gospel does not ask us to pretend that there are no real dangers in the world. Indeed, Jesus has been instructing his Apostles exactly about such dangers. It does ask us, however, not to be possessed by fear of others nor of the dangers of life. It does ask us not to become afraid, not to be dominated by fear.

What is the opposite of fear, then? Faith is. Jesus calls us, as he did the Apostles, to “become like [our] teacher.” It is by the primacy of our relationship with Jesus that we find the right judgment, courage and sense of purpose to deal with whatever the world may throw our way, sure in the victory that God has already won in Christ. Such faith frees us to use wisely every power of good sense and judgment to minimize dangers when we can and to choose good paths. It gives us the motivation to do all we can to change the world for the better knowing that when we change ours and another’s soul for the good, we have moved the world one step closer to its destiny in God.

Fear no one, but become like your Teacher, Jesus. This is our rule of life. Every time you challenge others by the goodness and beauty of your example, you change the world for the better. Every time you invite someone to realize their “better” self, they and the world change for the good. Every time you assist someone in difficulty or share a burden or move an impossibility out of one’s way, life becomes less fearsome for you and for all. We invited to accomplish the good things that our Teacher has, by the word and example he taught. May we indeed become more like Jesus. And may the world be better for it!

Religious Education is a prime mission within our Parish community. Teachers invite others to become more like Jesus, our Teacher. Such teachers are needed. No better way to change this world for the better than to help young minds discover what truly counts. Join us?!

Asking God’s blessing on our homes, our families and on our Parish family, I am

Yours in the Lord’s service,

Msgr. Timothy J. Moran

We hope this bookshelf encourages learning about our faith while being good stewards of the earth by saving books from ending up in the landfill. We ask that donated books be in good condition, and can be dropped off in the box next to the bookcase so we can label them prior to shelving. Please do not leave books directly on the book shelf.

Thank you!

Comments from Deacon Joe Saints Peter and Paul

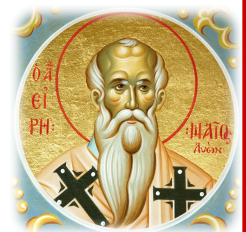

The "Holiday Season," as I like to call it, runs from Ascension Thursday through the Solemnity of Saints Peter and Paul, June 29, which comes on Thursday this week. We celebrate the two greatest apostles, who led the spreading of the gospel to the Mediterranean world. God works through humans to accomplish his work, and if Peter and Paul had not responded as they did, the work of evangelization would have gone very differently and probably much more slowly. In our time, God calls each one of us to participate day by day in some way in the ongoing work of the Church to evangelize all people. May we recognize the call and respond as well as the Apostles did https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Feast\_of\_Saints\_Peter\_and\_Paul.

Grace Community Church Over the past couple of weeks our neighbors at Grace Community Church have been subjected to criticism in social and print media, to vandalism, and to a demonstration outside their church. The background is too complex to give here, but the elders of the church have put a good summary on their church website: <https://gracemarblehead.org/wp-content/uploads/2023/06/GCC-Elders-Statement-06-20-2023.pdf> Let's pray that the tensions may be abated, that the critics may relent, and that all may move ahead with love and respect.

This week In addition to the Solemnity of the Apostles Peter and Paul, we observe the Memorial of St. Irenaeus on June 28. He was bishop of Lyon in France. He was a disciple of St. Polycarp, who was in turn a disciple of St. John the Evangelist. He is important for his writings which refute the heresy of Gnosticism, show that both Old and New Testaments are valid for Christians and reveal the one God, and establish that the bishops of the Church are successors of the Apostles <https://www.britannica.com/biography/Irenaeus>.

Enjoy the Summer!
Have a good week.
